Dear Reader and Catalogue User,

We have prepared this catalogue to present a focused selection of agricultural products that form the core of our sourcing and supply operations at Payak Krishi Exports.

At this stage, our offering is centered around four key commodities — Onion, Potato, Wheat, and Rice. While the product list is intentionally concise, each category includes multiple varieties and grades, reflecting differences in origin, quality parameters, and intended market use.

Our approach is to work with a limited number of products and understand them in depth, rather than offering a broad range without consistency. The information provided under each product is meant to help you identify suitable options based on your requirements, whether for domestic trade or export purposes.

This catalogue serves as an introduction to our capabilities and the way we work. Product availability, specifications, and packaging can be aligned further through discussion, and customization may be explored based on volume and destination needs.

We hope this catalogue helps you gain a clear overview of our offerings and opens the door to meaningful and practical cooperation.

Kartikey Singh Payak,

About Payak Krishi Exports

Indian Roots, Global Standards

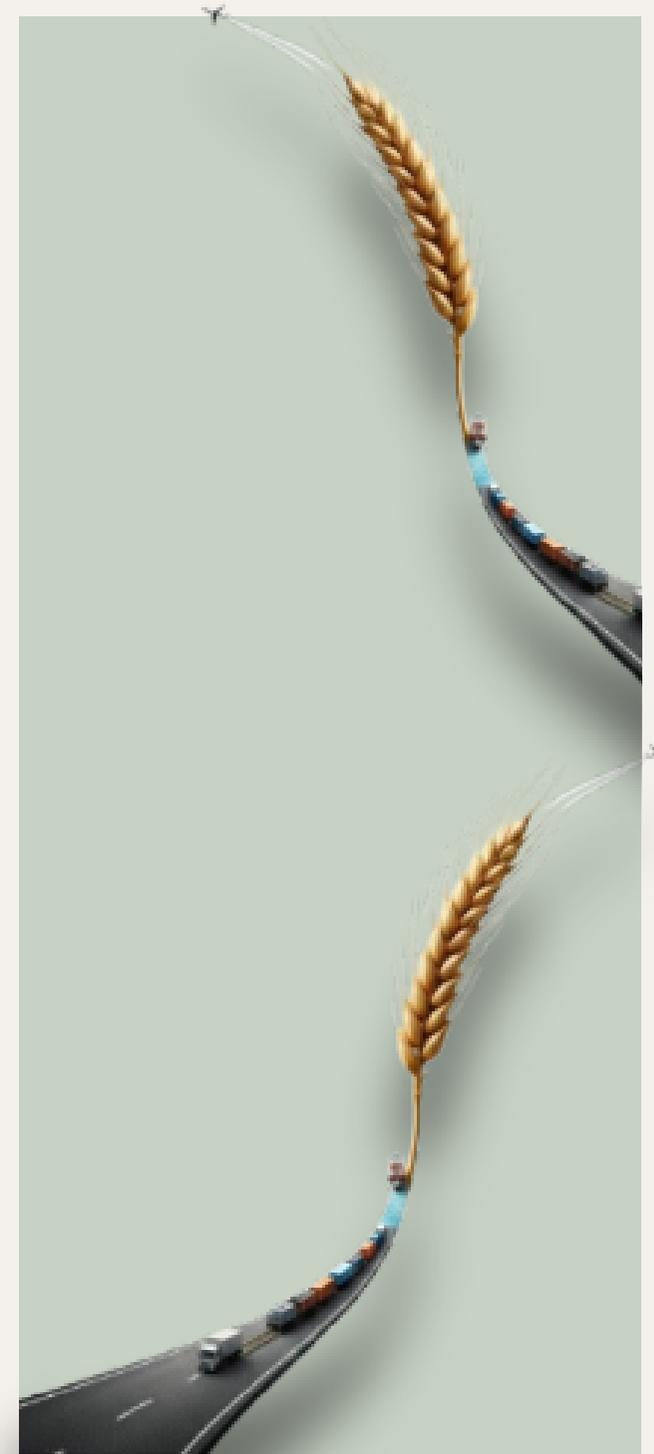

Payak Krishi Exports was established with the intention of creating a reliable and transparent link between agricultural producers in India and buyers across markets. Our work is guided by a strong connection to Indian farming practices, combined with an understanding of global quality and trade expectations.

We focus on sourcing essential agricultural commodities and preparing them for domestic and export requirements through careful selection, coordination, and quality awareness. Rather than working across a wide product range, we concentrate on a defined set of products to ensure better consistency and control.

At present, our primary offerings include Onion, Potato, Wheat, and Rice, each available in multiple varieties and grades based on regional sourcing and market needs. This approach allows us to align supply with specific buyer requirements while maintaining clarity and reliability.

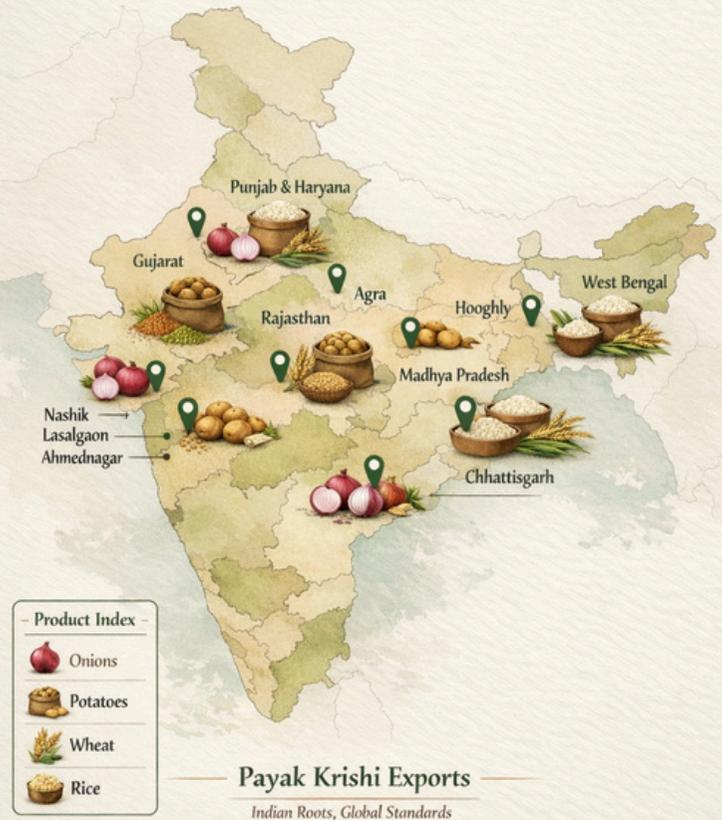

As a growing export-oriented enterprise, we place importance on long-term relationships and open communication. We believe that sustainable trade is built through trust, practical execution, and a shared understanding of expectations.

Payak Krishi Exports continues to develop its sourcing network and operational capabilities, with the aim of building dependable partnerships rooted in Indian agriculture and aligned with global standards.
